2005 Youth Leadership Seminar

Theme: Ethics

Guest Speakers: Kenneth Blackwell, Ohio Secretary of State. Ken Rusche, Physical Therapist and Trainer of Professional Olympic Teams. Sean Miller, Head Basketball Coach at Xavier University.

Master of Ceremonies: Harvey Alston

Activities: Attendees will be placed into groups consisting of students from various schools to promote teamwork and integrate the different cultures.

Tackle A Cause: Attendees will be asked to perform a service project following the conclusion of the event that demonstrates their ability to take the information learned at the Youth Leadership Seminar and apply it to their surrounding community. Groups will submit project reports to the Anthony Muñoz Foundation and the winning group will receive a catered lunch by Bonefish Grill in West Chester.

Participating High Schools:

Amelia, Anderson, CHCA, Clermont Northeastern, Colerain, Deer Park, Glen Este, Fairfield, Finneytown, Hamilton, Harrison, Holmes, Holy Cross, Hughes Center, Indian Hill, Little Miami, Loveland, Maderia, Mariemont, Mason, Middletown, Moeller, Northwest, Norwood, Oak Hills, Princeton, Purcell Marian, Reading, Ross, Shroder Paideia, Sycamore, Taft, Talawanda, Taylor, Turpin, Wilmington, Winton Woods, Withrow, Woodward, Wyoming

Project Winners: Talawanda High School and Fairfield High School

Talawanda decided to create the High Five Club, an after school intramural latchkey program bringing the opportunity of an intramural program to the kids in their community when there was none to begin with. Along with athletic development, the program incorporated integrity, respect, and teamwork, which incorporated the theme of this past year's Youth Leadership Seminar theme. Three area elementary schools were targeted and funds were raised to accommodate their program. Fairfield also developed a mentoring latchkey program as well. In the end, the leaders of these two schools were able to pour their lives out into their communities and with out a doubt impact children for a lifetime.
